V. DESCRIPTION

Abnormal uterine bleeding is defined as a change in the frequency of menses, the duration of flow, or the amount of blood loss. The most common presenting complaint is excessive or prolonged bleeding, also referred to as menorrhagia.

Treatments include watchful waiting, pharmacological therapy (e.g. nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, oral contraceptives, and oral and intrauterine progestins), dilation and curettage, and hysterectomy. If optimal nonsurgical medical therapies fail, are contraindicated, or cause intolerable side effects, then endometrial ablation or hysterectomy are options in women who have no wish for future pregnancies.
